

Dear Expectant Parent,

Thank you for the taking time to learn a little about us as you consider making an adoption plan for your child. We can only imagine how courageous and loving you are.

We have always seen adoption as a beautiful way to form a family. Theresa's sister is adopted, and she grew up around many wonderful adoptive families. So, while some struggles with infertility are part of our story, adoption has always been in our minds and hearts as an option for forming our family. We are excited to welcome a child into our family through adoption.

It is so important to honor our future child's story —it's a part of what will make them the amazing person that they are! We will always share openly with them about their adoption story, and we see you as an important part of that.

We hope to exchange pictures and emails with you and arrange visits with you when that's possible, in a way that respects both of our desires for openness. We will always speak about you with love and respect, and we understand that our relationship with you will grow and evolve as we get to know each other.

We are praying that you have a healthy pregnancy and that you feel at peace as you discern what is best for you and your baby.

Harold and Theresa
