

Hi there! We are so incredibly thankful that you want to get to know us a little bit better. We have both always wanted to be parents, and before we were married had a conversation about children. We both were open to adoption if and when God called us to grow our family in that way. As we are struggling with infertility, we knew that we wanted to start our adoption journey.

We want our child to grow up in a supportive, loving, and stable home. We know that ensuring our child understands how we became their parents is very important. We want to be very transparent with our child about their birth parents/family. We are open to our child's birth parents/family being a part of their life as we know that will only benefit the child.

We can't imagine all the thoughts and emotions you are having. We want you to know however; we have been praying for you for months not only because you could make us parents, which we will eternally be grateful for, but also because you are extremely brave and loving to be exploring adoption. We firmly believe that God knows the family/child that is supposed to forever be a part of our lives, and we really hope that is you. We hope you enjoy getting to know us a little better and that your child would be so incredibly loved and supported.
